forest fires which swept the province during the hot weather of last summer.

A report presented by the forest branch to Hon. A. Wells Gray, Minister of Lands, revealed the cost of combating the 2,410 fires as $618,069.

The cost to the forest branch was 15 times as great as in 1937 and two and a half times as large as the strenge for the last ten years. The cost to private industry was six times as great as in 1937 and six times as great as in 1937 and six times the ten year average.

The branch estimated that 1,046,341,000 board feet of merchantable timber went up in smoke during the year, over three times the average of the last 10 years. The loss is placed at $2. 229,144, also three times greater than the 10-year average.

In addition to this the damage to other property was as follows: To forest products including piled lumber $414,773; to buildings $88,811; to railway logging equipment, etc., $145,899; and miscellaneous $25,683.

Lighting and human smokers stood out as the chief causes of fires. The former was responsible for 29 per cent and smoker during the year, over three times the average of the last 10 years. The loss is placed at $2. 229,144, also three times greater than the 10-year average.

In all 709,317 acres of forest lands were burned over, making it the worst fire year the province has known for a long time. Totals

He writes with a background of 30 years experience in the foreign field.

NEW YORK-About a month ago in Greece I consulted the Delphian Oracle, which for more than 25 centuries has foretold the fate of man to those who took the pains to climb the steep path to the Temple of Apollo—way up among the "shining rocks" at the base of Mount Parnassus.

There, with the aid of a bent and wrinkled Greek who has spent so much of his long life digging among the mysteries of the ruins that he has become the spirit of the place, I learned of the future.

These ideas are not dissociated from the facts gleaned during the tour I have just finished through 14 European countries. Still, in-spiration has come from Delphi and impelled me to offer the folforecast from the foreign

Foremost in the minds of almost everyone probably is the question of whether there is daner of European war. The answer: We have every right to be optimistic. There is less danger of such a conflict in 1939 than there was for 1938. There is possibility of an arme clash between Russia and Germany if and when Hitler tries to take over control of the Ukraine, and Poland might easily be involved. However, there is every reason to hope such a fight would be localized

Key to Unemployment Seen in Girls' Trek From Homes to Offices

By ROGER BABSON

WASHINGTON, D.C. WASHINGTON, D.C.—
Business is today 10 per cent higher than a year ago. Yet employment is 10 per cent less.
Why? One vital reason is the flooding of the job market with women. The trend toward women taking men's jobs is speeding up rather than slowing down.

The trek of women into office and factories is one of the many causes of our abnormally heavy jobless totals. It is one of a zen new trends which been creating a revolution in our business and social lives. It started in 1900 but did not become a serious factor until business hit the skids in 1930.

ince then the girls have flocked into the employment market in hordes. The following statement is hard to believe, but it is a fact: The depression is leaving us more women employed than ever

John D. Biggers, who ran the 1937 job census for President Roosevelt from here at Washing ton, has this to say on the ques-tion of women jobholders: "More than a third of all workers are pared with 40,000,000 men. In 1930, 24 per cent of women over sixteen years old had jobs. In 1937 the total had jumped to 31.5 per cent. (It is probably higher today). Actually since 1930, 2,740,000 more women have today). Actually since 1930, 2,740,000 m ore women have crashed the business world than would have done so if the ratio had remained 24 per cent."

These figures show that a good share of our unemployed total of 9,000,000 is due to a greater percentage of women holding jobs than ever before. Many daughters and wives who are working today would not have thought of doing so in 1929. Women's wages were pretty good Women's wages were pretty go then because there was a dema for competent female workers.

Today, however, in addition to glutting the whole job market, the girls have glutted their own. Women's wages have dropped 20 per cent since the "good old days."
Modern machines can be operated by smart "girls as well as men.

more women than men stock-holders. Only a few days ago-for the first time on record—a woman was made a director of a big utility concern.

We have all seen women getting into public office, although I think they fit into business better than they do into politics. One handi-cap which most business women cap which most business women have is lack of ability to "take it on the chin." Men better watch out when women "tough"!

Industry is filled up with so many male stuffed shirts that it will be a pushover for aggressive women to grab their jobs as soon as they get the new training that is open to them. I refer to schools and colleges that now especially train wom

I feel very strongly that married women, whose husbands insist upon keeping their own jobs, should resign. Even though there are two sides to the question, I think that under current not work at home, then the wives should get fired. If so, unemployment would drop by a full million tomorrow!

On to Rome!

NO LONGER DO ITALIAN NEWS papers try to conceal the very active part which Italian troops, airplanes and mechaniare taking in the rebel cause in Spain The 10,000 weary veterans which Premier Mussolini withdrew, to induce Great Britain to set the machinery of the Anglo-Italian hip pact in motion, have now been d by fresh and much better-equipped men, aided by the latest and most effective German and Italian bombing machines. In other words, to the Rome-Berlin axis has been imparted new impetus, the object being, of course, to give Insurgent General Franci ctory as quickly as possible. Small wonder, then, that eminent British tators are not too optimistic about further "appeasement" on the eve of Prime Minister Chamberlain's departure for Paris me. The civil war in Spain, now two and a half years old, is admittedly the great obstacle barring the way to any effective and permanent solution of what is euphemist cally regarded as the "international situa-Linked with Italy's behavior since Munich, her more recent propagandizing against France in the form of demands for French territory - obviously, of course, apby Il Duce or it would not have bee developed by his journalistic mouthpiece Signor Gayda-is Germany's more recent an nt she intends to expand her submarine fleet beyond all reasonable propor According to the Manchester diplomatic correspondent in London the "view taken by many observers" in thi ection is that this new program "not only perfects the German war machine, but perfects it, above all, against the British nwealth." He sums up this way:

"By virtue of her alliances with Italy and Japan and her hold over Nationalist (Insurgent) Spain, Germany, while making herself ne from blockade (as she is doing by establishing a self-sufficient economy on an ritorial basis); is also creating the means of blockading Great Britain."

More than three months have elapsed since nous "Peace of Munich" was negotiated. It averted war for the time being. But it also gave Germany and Italy all the optheir leaders required to break the spirit and letter of that pact when they felt The original sacrifice of Czecho slovakia has almost been forgotten in Reichs fuehrer Hitler's mad scramble to keep to, and erate, the "Mein Kampf" time-table. The Rome-Berlin axis is now a stronger piece of brutalitarian-totalitarian machinery than even the most pessimistic internationalist ever expected it to be. Premier Mussolini is in an immeasureably more advantageous on to meet Mr. Chamberlain now than he would have been even six weeks ago. This is not to say that his more crafty partner Berlin will permit him to try to drive the British Prime Minister too far; but it is byious that all the fruits of the Munich deal have been capitalized in readiness for Mr Chamberlain's entry onto the Roman stage

It is to be noted, incidentally, that this will be the first time in history a British Prime Minister has gone to Rome on a matic mission. Mr. Chamberlain will have a final word with Premier Daladier in Paris. The battle in the Italian capital, therefore, will be between democracy and dictator ship-with the first great testing round at Munich already marked down in favor of the latter. Both are anxious for peace, but each at its own price.

A Valuable Course

THROUGH THE SERIES OF PUBLIC administration lectures inaugurated to-day in the Provincial Public Library, officials in the Dominion, provincial and municipal services will have the privilege of hearing a master of his subject. Prof. Ivor Jennings, who is giving the course, is a member of the staff of the London School of Econom He is author of books and reports on the British civil service, the British parliamentary system and municipal government. British government departments have turned to him frequently as a consultant on administrative problems. Altogether, he is an outstanding and internationally known authority. The University of British Columbia is fortunate in having Mr. Jennings "on loan" for the current year from the University of London, and doubly so are public officials here for whom delivery of his lectures has now been made possible as a result of the enterprise of a committee headed by Mr. P. Walker.

The course will be noted as a valued and practical extension of the work of our provincial university. For good government it is important that we elect fitting men to office. But our elected representatives function as only part of our governmental machinery. The responsibility for the smooth working of the vast and complicated administrative system depends on the permanent officials in the departments. The fact that they have moved to take advantage of the availability of Professor Jennings is evidence of their desire to achieve in public administration the best that is within their power.

Doing Better

NEWS FROM OTTAWA THE OTHER day indicated that Canadians spent in November $39,400,000 more than they did in November a year ago.

Payments by cheque, or bank debits, in which form it is estimated 97 per cent of business is transacted, amounted to $2,965,-079,444 in November compared with $2,925,-615.844 in November of the previous year.

Bank debits by provinces, with figures for November, 1937, in brackets, were: Maritime provinces, $60,740,639 ($58,904,206): Quebec, $983,814,807 ($922,945,099); Ontario, $3,256,412,242 ($3,341,768,937); Prairie Provinces. $492.567.286 ($434.863.449): British Columbia, $171,544,469 ($167,134,153).

If the foregoing means anything at all, means that the people of Canada as a whole were much better off last November - and, presumably, in December as well-than they were in November, 1937. This neans progress in the right direction.

ONLY ONE ANSWER

From Toronto Saturday Night It seems to be pretty well admitted now that what brought about the determination of federal Liberal leaders to effect a showdown with Mr. Hepburn was the endeavor of the latter to use the party organization under his control to dictate terms to the federal government in policies and federal cand

The question whether the party organiza-tion in each province should be controlled by the federal or provincial government (or Opposition Party as the case may be) is capable of but one answer. If the national parties in this Dominion are to be nothing but federations of nine separate provincial parties in this Dominion are to be nothing but federations of nine separate provincial parties, all hope of consistent and nationally designed policies in the general interest is abandoned, all the aims of the Fathers of Confederation are thearted, and the whole purpose of the constitution is set aside. But the truth is that any such arrangement cannot possibly be of long duration. No party so organized, so lacking in cohesion, so dependent upon the whims of six or eight or nine provincial leaders each independent of the rest, can ever hope to retain power. And

PAN-AMERICAN DEFENCE

COR MORE THAN 100 years the M Doctrine has kept the western hemi-sphere out of the scramble by the European powers for new territory. At the Lima con-ference, just concluded, the Monroe Doctrine entered its second phase. Henceforth, in-stead of being first, last and all the time a United States device, it will be a co-operative defence arrangement for all the nations of the western world, except Canada.

As a matter of fact the Monroe Doctrin was a British idea and not an American plan.
It was George Canning, the great British Foreign Minister, who suggested to President Monroe that it would be a smart move to tell the whole world that henceforth the Americas were to be closed to European penetration. Thus in 1823, when the Holy Alliance proposed to back Spain in her war against the revolting South American states, he United States tersely warned the Old World that she would regard as a hostile act any attempt to extend the European sys-tem to this continent. By the end of the century the Latin American republics were not so sure that they had been benefited by being saved by the United States. Dollar macy was firmly entrenched at Wash-n. It was considered likely that the United States would sooner or later establish virtual protectorates over her southerly abors. Yet she never did so. In recen years there has been a visible shrinkage of what tendency previously existed toward im perialism in the United States. This has been partly due to the general revulsion of feeling against the whole principle of imperial-But it has been perhaps even more to the fact that the American people were less and less inclined to fight to get or even retain land held in subjection. Japanes glances towards the Philippines did the trick.

Two factors have made the Latin Ameri can countries willing in recent years to co operate with the United States in a joint efence program. One of these factors is. the lessened fear that the United States will herself be the aggressor. The second is the rise of Mussolini and Hitler in Europe. These two dictators would make short work of South American independence were it not for the Monroe Doctrine. All Latin America is aware of that fact.

THE PRINCIPLE IS RIGHT

IN SPITE OF ALL its faults the principle of democracy is still the best evolved by mankind. In war no democracy can operate as effectively from the military standpoint as a monarchy or dictatorship. But the reverse is true in peace time. Democracy is slow, inefficient in the little things, and clogged with petty graft. But dictatorship is inefficient in the big things, and inseparable from graft in a big way. The history of democracy is one of steady improvement in the lot of the common man. Under democracy there has been a steady raising in the level of honesty of public people. There is for instance, no country in the world in which there is less confuption in public life than in Great Britain. Yet in the days of Pitt bribery of members of parliament was so common a practice that no one paid any attention to it. Thus when Pitt wanted to put through the Act of Union with Ireland he did so by the very simple expedient of buying votes on as matter of fact a basis as the modern housewife would buy a dozen eggs from the grocery store. People who talk about the good old days of politics are certainly abysmally ignorant of what used to go on.

The vital necessity for this generation is to find some way of retaining the basic principles of democracy but so changing their mode of application as to eliminate the tangles of frustration and delay which always seem to thwart the will of the common people. The late Lord Birkenhead, who was one of the keenest minds of this century. foresaw the day when the whole adul population would vote yes or no on all important proposals by the central government His basic idea would be to let the people do directly what they now are supposed to do through their elected represents tives. He visualized a system of recording the votes by radio.

That is, of course, far out of the question in our generation. But the system is in need of immediate attention, particularly in Can ada. Here it seems to have been designed to enable big interests to do anything that they want to do, and yet make it almost impor sible to get anything in the way of social reform for the average individual.

ITALIANS GO BACK 13 CENTURIES FOR THEIR CLAIMS TO TUNISIA

WHAT IS BEHIND Italian demands for return of Tunisià? How do Mussolini's underlings justify their diatribes against French control of that incient African land?

One must go back about 1,300 years for the answer, for Italian peoples have had no governnental control in or of Tunisia since 642 A.D.

Legend says the Phoenician Queen Dido built the famous city of Carthage, almost on the exact site of which the present Tunis, capital of the country, is situated.

In the second century B.C., Carthage fell to Rome, and for all Carthage fell to Rome, and for all but a few of the next 800 years the whole North African province belonged either to the western or the eastern Roman Empire.

In the seventh century it fell to the Mohammedan Arabs, and was known as the Kingdom of Kairwan. (The present city of Kairwan is the second holiest of the Moslem world; the pilgrim who cannot reach Mecca finds his satisfaction at Kairwan).

For brief periods Tunis came under the domination of Sicily.

The European powers most concerned have been France, England and the Italian cities. In addition to concessions for exploitation of Tunisian resources, they sought telephone, telegraph, cable and railrond concessions. British Artists To Be Heard Here

Two British artists will be heard in the near future in Vicagement of Mrs. J. O. Cameron and Miss Isobel Munn, the other one arranged by Mrs. Cameron and Cedric Lefevre. Marion Keighley Snowden, who gave pleasure by her recital last year at the home of Miss Kath-leen Agnew, will be heard in a piano lecture recital on January 30 at the Empress Hotel.

Miss Snowden will talk on the subject of "Old English Music of the Post Restoration Period," with musical examples played on a piano and with lantern slide illustration, and the artist will be dressed in an authentic period gown. Among other things Miss owden will tell the fascinating story of the origin of concerts.

Tickets for Miss Snowden's recital may be obtained at the Marionette Library.

The other artist, who will be heard at the Empress Hotel on February 27, is Eve Maxwell Lyte. who appeared in recital last year under the auspices of the Musical Art Society, and whose artistry has been acclaimed in many places for its sincerity and beauty. Miss Maxwell Lyte will give an entirely new program of "Tradi-tional Songs of Many Lands," and bers the artist gave last year.

These two concerts are under the patronage of the Victoria Musical Art Society, Community Concert Association, Victoria branch of the Music Teachers' Federation and the Beaux Arts.

1. If you mentioned that "contemptible sneer re chestnuts," at all, we hoped you'd politely but firmly say that this has never been Great Britain's habit, but ather to rull the result for others. rather to pull them out for others and do the lion's share as in the head, trying to excuse him-self. Can you British never take your own part?

2. When referring to "mistakes" you might better have said all countries make them, but no, "its Britain."

Then why not have taken the branch, Canadian Legion, was re the American revolution, so held at Bamberton. V. E. Zelconstantly distorted by self-linsky, retiring president, opened constantly distorted by self-centred, praise-loving propagands in the United States.

To the Editor:-It is now stated that Germany increased her trade 500 per cent with the South American countries in the last five years by barter, and that Japan is also making great strides by the same method.

Recently a large sum of pounds sterling was set aside in a pro-posed attempt to compete with this German bartering. As bartering has worked for centuries, although sometimes awkwardly, it may be that the time has now arrived when great hoards of gold buried in vaults may lose much of its power and value. The outcome between barter and the dollar and pound means cut throat competition, strife and eventually war, but with the possibility of one side or the other caving in on account of internal weakness before the actual killing begins.

NEW YORK — The lives of those back-stage at the Metro-politan Opera House are not as tensely social as the lives of those spectacular spectators who occupy the Diamond Horseshoe.

Opera singers, for the most part, abhor plush places and elaborate ceremony and places where they are well known to lay patrons.

There is a little rickety eating place in the Fifties, where the table d'hote dinners reach their peak at 65 cents, and which receives its chief patronage from the great names of the Met.

the great names of the Met.

Its proprietor is an ever-smiling, shy little Neapolitan. Joe Remono. He is an ubiquitous restaurateur, presiding over the dining-room and kitchen with but little assistance. He prepares, to the notion of many, the best bowl of spaghett in town, and in this estimate one is supported by the best vocalites at the Opera House. His furniture is plain and ancient, and his decorations consist of no more than hundreds of autographed pictures, tightly pressed against each other on the walls. Such an atmosphere naturally breeds informality, and since most of the customers are singers.

most of the customers are singers and well acquainted with each other, there is no gaping, such as you are bound to see at most celebrity-hunters' salons.

Station CJCA, Edmonton THIS SUBERB autobiography,
Audrey Alexandra Brown's and none that were written with "The Log of a Lame Duck," is one of those most unusual and rare books which no one, I think, can read without, as Gilbert wrote, "a tear and a smile." I started it at midnight two days ago, intending to just "get into it," as it were, and lo and behold, I read it till five in the morning, when I laid it down with both a "tear and a smile." Lady Tweedsmuir in her excellent preface says that visiting the House of Good Hope was an unforgettable experience. Forestry Camp were entertained can assure you that reading this last night at a variety concert book is an unforgettable exarranged by Thomas Obee at the perience for myself. Whether it is because I have spent over two years of my own life in army hospitals, whether it is because I have a great love for children, ing violin solos by W. MODERN AIRCRAFT SEEN AS U.S. NEED

WASHINGTON (AP) - Th National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics warned the United States Congress today that "feverish" expansion of military and commercial air fleets by foreign nations was a challenge to America's aviati

The committee, which does re-search in the science of flying, recommended setting up a laboratory to experiment with airplane structures.

"It is not only a good policy from a financial standpoint," its annual report said, "but also vital from the standpoint of national defence, that American aircraft have a performance equal or su-perior to that of a potential perior enemy

"Mere numbers of aircraft, wever, are not in themselves sufficient for an adequate modern air force. It is of even greater importance that the aircraft be of the most effective design."

A fair crowd witnessed the fast and furious exhibition, which at no ome appeared dull. Little defence work was displayed by either team. The Dominoes made most of their baskets from out-side the penalty area, while the Bellingham boys clicked in bucket

CHAPMANS STAR

And speaking of scoring, it was the Chapman brothers' night for the locals. Chuck, Dominoes' captain and star guard, made 19 points, while Art, centre forward expert, had 13 chalked up for him. Roy Taylor, playing guard, scored eight points, while hard-working Bert Davies and young Ben Acre man, scored four apiece. Acre-man was seen in the checkered uniform for the second time Sat-urday night. During the season he has been playing for the Intermediate A team, Eight Aces.

The Collegians' 49 points were ore evenly distributed. Chamberlain, forward, made 12: Ever stalky young forward, sank 11 Millard, husky guard, made 10. Plan Tennis Tour and Nelson, another forward, was fourth highest with six. The balance was chalked up by Fox, Moses, Bever and Targus.

At the initial tip-off, midget Moses. Bellingham forward, car-ried the ball for the first basket. Art Chanman was handed the the next play and he let go with one of his cross-court one handers to make it two all. Then Nelson came through for the visitors with another business score, which was made even by Chuck Chapman seconds later on a clean-cut basket from just outside the penalty area. Both teams had each other marked this time, and settled down Fowler to Syracuse for the vicious scoring game

I-EARLY HISTORY

Rome is noted as one of the world's old cities, but it is not so old as Jerusalem. When Rome was a little village, Jerusalem was a city close to a thousand years old! ears old!

"Urusalim" was an early way of speaking the city's name. " name means "City of Salim," "City of Peace."

Section of Temple of Solomon reconstructed by Schick

When the ancient Hebrews enered their Promised Land, they aptured Urusalem (also calle ebus) from people known as Jet usites. That event took place bout 3,000 years ago.

If you visit Jerusalem today, you may see the famous Mosque of Omar. It is believed to rest in the same ground as the ancien Temple of Solomon.

olomon is the most noted of all the Hebrew kings. He held the throne for 37 years.

One thing Solomon did was to build up the foreign trade of his country. Since the Hebrews had no interest in being sailors, he made a bargain with the ruler of Tyre, a Phoenician seaport about 75 miles from Jerusalem. The sailors of Tyre carried goods far and wide for Solomon. The trad ing included such items as "gold silver, ivory, apes and peacocks. A few years after he became king, Solomon started the building of a temple of targe size. He wanted a fitting place to hold the Ark of the Covenant, a box conaining stone tablets with the Ten Commandments written on them After seven years of work, the temple was finished. The main part of the structure is believed o have been 100 feet long, 33 fee wide and 50 feet high.

One room in the temple was the Holy of Hollies. It contained the Ark of the Covenant, also wo large winged figures which had been carved from wood and overed with gold.

When it was close to four centuries old, the Temple of Solomon was destroyed. Soldiers of Nebuchadrezzar, the Babylonian con-queror, had captured and set fire o Jerusalem.

That was the time when tens of thousands of Hebrews were taken to Babylonia as sleves. During the so-called "Babylonian captivity," which lasted more thau 50 years, they kept thinking of Jerusalem. They had been proud of their capital city, and wanted to go back and build it up again.

At last the Hebrews were set free by Cyrus, a Persian emperor who defeated Babylonia in war. Many went back to Jerusalem, and set to work building the Temple of Solomon over again.
The new temple was not so grand as the one which had been des-troyed, but it was important in ne life of the people.

DEAR MISS DIX. We are the parents of a grown family, all of DEAR MISS DIX—We are the parents of a grown family, all of whom are married and have homes of their own, except one son, who lost his job during the depression and who came to live with us with his wife and two children, as they had nowhere else to go. The arrangement has been most unpleasant, as our daughter-in-law is very inconsiderate of us, uses the house as if it were her own and almost pushes us out of it. She has a great deal of company and never introduces us to any of her friends, and monopolizes the dining-room so much that we often have to eat in our own room. The children are spoiled and noisy and impudent. One of them said to me the other day that she wished I would go away, as when I died they were going to have the house. I am not well and all this confusion makes me very nervous. Our other children want us to sell the house and build a small bungalow. My son has got a job now, the house and build a small bungalow. My son has got a job now, but he is badly in debt and wants to stay with us, as it is so me cheaper and they have no rent to pay. What should we do? MOTHER OF SIX.

Answer: That's easy. If you have the backbone of a fishing worm, you will make your son take his disagreeable brood and leave and get a home of his own. There is no reason why he should run you out of your own house, and you are very foolish and weak to you out of your own house, and you are very foolish and weak let him do it.

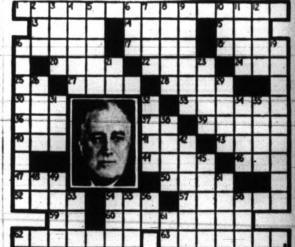

One of the most depressing things about the whole depress was the lack of appreciation and gratitude that so many young people showed when their parents took them in with their wives or husbands and children when they lost their jobs and would have been in the bread line except that Mother and Father divided their nomes and their food with them.

In many cases the parents had a scant living for themselves, the houses were small, but they never shut their doors in their children's faces. They crowded up closer together and sliced the bread thinner, and as long as the old people had a cent it went for milk for grandbabies,

But instead of being down on their knees in gratitude to their parents, oftener than not Tom and Sally and Tom's wife and Sally's husband vented their rebellion at the hard luck they were having and the sacrifices they were having to make on the poor old folks, and did everything they could to make things even more unpleasant than they were. Evidently that is your case, and you should have spirit enough not to stand for it.

 Mr. Manning expects to leave for the east Thursday for the meeting, which opens January 17. While there he will investigate the latest developments in fores try work. He is expected to attend the conference of the Canadian So-ciety of Forest Engineers in Toronto the following may also be present at a meeting of the Woodland Section of the Canadian Pulp and Paper Association in Montreal. As a member of the tourist council, Mr. Manning also plans to study the development of winter sports in the east, particularly the appeal of skiing to tourists.

This, he believes, will indicate the possibilities in British Colum bia which is going into a develop ment program of ski resorts

GIVES NEW CLUES TO ICE AGE HISTORY

NEW YORK-Better knowl of the ice age history of the chart of the ocean bottom off the eastern coast of the United States, from Chesapeake Bay to Cape Cod, presented and described be-fore the annual meeting of the ogical Society of America here by A. C. Veatch, consultir ist of New York City, and Lieut. A. Smith of the U.S. Coast Geodetic Survey.

This chart was made for special ological study, under the aus-ces of the Geological Society of erica, from surveys conducted by the U.S. Coast and Geodetic er direction of Reariral L. O. Colbert, for use in practical navigation.

The chart, which is on the large cale of 1 to 120,000, was compiled from many thousands of echo soundings of the bottom valleys, plains and canyons, as as any topographic maps land. They give the first detailed picture of a large of sea floor that scientists we ever had a chance to inspect as a whole. Four large. pists: the fifth, which will comthe chart, is now being hed in Washington.

Lewis Hopes

Figures Heavyweight Title Bout With Louis Will Go Distance

SUMMIT, N.J. (AP) — Way back when John Henry Lewis was a little shaver around Phoenix, Ariz., his father handed him a theory which he expects will win him the world heavyweight cham-pionship from Joe Louis January

"John Henry," pappy advised "if you want to get somewhere fighting, always hold your hands up, throw punches and keep the seat of your pants off the floor." That's just the plan John Henry figures on using against the Brown Bomber when they tangle

John Henry is confident he can whip Joe. He is expecting the fight to go the distance, with Louis abdicating in his favor when the 15 rounds are over. Lewis is so confident, in fact, he has about decided to give up the light heavyweight champion (he's recognized everywhere but in New York) for keeps.

About the brains-well, John Henry won't go into that, but Take George Gunther, a little negro who admits to 65 years and spent 34 of them in the ring.

"Well, sir," says George, "you know why John Henry's got a good chance? This is why—and he taps his forehead. "He thinks r in the ring than Joe does And he'll be smarter in the infighting.

and the paper was presented in his absence by Lieut. Smith. Among Mr. Veatch's conclusions

1. The off-shore canyons of which so much has been heard are only conspicuous features in a submarine landscape which is Simple disperant of with the many of smaller valleys, ridges and hills along the coastal slope

2. The coastal shelf, behind the slope, is a smooth, comparatively flat submerged plain.

3. The notable canyons cut back into this plain, and one of them, the Hudson, has been definitely connected to a land valley.

4. Besides the Hudson Canyon. there is a submerged Hudson Channel, which is flat bottomed, with a width of about 10 miles, at a depth of 35 fathons (210 feet). At the 43fathorn level this wide channel shows a delta formation, and this is taken by Mr. Veatch as a definite measurement of a le entinued earlier stage in the sea level. The lowest level which the s ever reached, as measured by these submarine canyons, is repnted by the Congo Canyon off the coast of Africa, which ort the coast of Africa, which shows an extreme depression to 12,000 feet below present sea level. Cutting of this canyon, according to Mr. Veatch, began in post-Mousterian (Old Stone Age) time, and the ocean did not finally return to its present level until 5,000 years ago, beginning of written history.

Present-day practical uses of this detailed chart will include guiding ships by means of echo soundings when fog or darkness blot out all other navigation marks. Navigators will be able to "see" a transect of the bottom Geological interpretations of the off-shore topography were made by Mr. Veatch, who was seriously ill as the society met,

However, echo soundings can cometimes play funny tricks, Lieut. Smith warned in closing. He cited the case of what seemed to be some shoals in the Nile, suspended well above the river bot-tom. These "shoals" turned out to be hippopotamuses!

ICE AGE EVIDENCES FROM OCEAN BOTTOM

Evidence that during the Ice Age the water off the northern Arnie Bumsted scored 14 points Atlantic coast of what is now for Munros in their game Saturthe United States was Arctic in day night, while Bill McLachla character war introduced by Dr. counted 7 for Staceys. Fred C. Phleger, Sheldon traveling fellow in gelogy. Dr. Phlege examined cores of sea botte sediment collected by Dr. Henry C. Stetson of Harvard University. In them he found shells of the one-celled animals known as Foraminifera, very similar to species that now drift in the waters of the Arctic ocean.

Vines-Budge Are All Even on Tour

CHICAGO -- Ellsworth Vine Budge, his new professiona tennis rival, 36, 26, 60, 63, 63 and square their transcontinental series at two matches apiece. A crowd estimated at 9,000 saw the match held in the Chicago

It marked the first time on the tour, which started Tuesday in New York, that the winner was carried beyond a straight set triumph. Vines' love set also was the first of the tour.

Vines hit his stride in this set, the third. He launched a more ervative game, and as his advantage piled up, he began to pour it on to Budge, the recent amateur king scoring only six points in the last three games.

a Madison Square Garden. Of eight straight games as the route set opened, breaking Budge's serunited with a liberal quantity of mixed with a liberal quantity vice in the opening game and a whole again in the ninth to triumph, 6 to 3. Budge could not break up Vines' march in the deciding set and bowed by the same score

Wheat

WINNIPEG (CP)-Reports of week-end rains in the United States winter wheat belt gave futures an easier tone on Winni peg wheat market today. Clos ing quotations were ¼ to ¼ cent lower, with May at 62%, July 62% and October 62% cents.

Trading was dull throughout with only a small mill demand in evidence. Export business in Canadian wheat was less than 100,000 bushels.

Liverpool values closed %d lower to unchanged. Rain advices from India helped the slip

Drilling at New Home Well Ends

CALGARY (CP)-Drilling at Home-Millarville No. 2, vital North Turner Valley test well, North Turner Valley test well, was completed Saturday night at a total depth of 8,495 feet. Tubing was run yesterday and work of charing the hole for a production test was commenced at day-break today, Dr. J. O. G. Sanderson, company geologist, said.

The well was drilled 463 feet into the limestone, including 83 feet of lower porous lime and 15 feet of black lime, Dr. Sanderson said.

The Home-Millarville well, which proves Turner Valley as crude-producing over a 17-mile length, was proven as a commercial was proven as a commercial crude producer from the upper porous horizon several weeks ago, before drilling was completed to the lower zone.
